We're looking for potential television programming ideas ... for new characters, new animation, new story lines that can create massive consumer audiences that will buy the show's name, characters, logo or trademark whenever and wherever they're found in retail stores.

We have a roster of powerful clients. For all of them, our job is to source licensees who get products into the retail marketplace, products that sell, taking the client's name all over the world.

Now, we want to expand this already significant list. We are seeking new ideas, particularly in television programming, ideas that are marketable and licensable. We want to hear from anyone with a worthwhile concept ... from executives to authors, inventors, ad people and animators, anyone with an idea that will work.

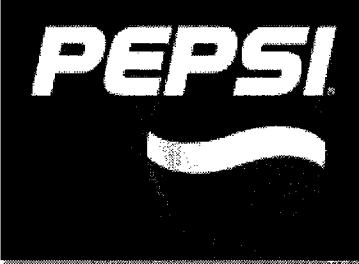

We want to hear from you. If your idea is worth pursuing, we'll help you finance and develop it and get it to market!

Founded in the 1940s, Aspen, a name synonymous with a fun and exciting lifestyle, is now expanding its licensing program. Although best known for its skiing, Aspen, Colorado, enjoys twelve months of beautiful scenery and outdoor adventure. This includes skiing, snowboarding, kayaking, horseback riding, mountain biking and much more.

The Aspen licensing program offers licensees three aspects of the Aspen brand: Aspen's leaf logo boasts over 50 years of heritage and represents a fashionable, yet rugged, outdoor brand with an upscale attitude.

Aspen Sport represents a variation of the brand most applicable to active, athletic silhouettes.

Aspen Extreme addresses the young adult and teen/youth market who are spectators of and participants in action sports, such as snowboarding, skateboarding and BMX.

The rugged, outdoor, natural appeal of Aspen's existence has transcended into the fashions being developed by today's designers and retailers. Currently, the Aspen brand reaches consumers via fragrances from Coty, backpacks from Accessory Network, as well as watches and sunglasses. Categories available for licensing include apparel, fashion accessories, footwear, luggage. Leather goods, gifts/novelties, stationery, camping products, domestics and games.

Panshel's World

History:

Panshel was originally created in 1996 by Mr. Masaru Houri. The origin was a retrospective Chinese panda character called Poppo Panda that Mr. Houri later gave wings and created in the present 3D computer image. After visiting publishers to sell his illustrations, he went to a giftware wholesaler Marimo Craft, and showed his illustration portfolio. Panshel artwork caught Marimo's attention, and Marimo agreed to market Panshel gift products. The first item that Marimo marketed was a mirror of Panshel in 2D-art style in 1996. Marimo then marketed postcards of Panshel in the 3D computer graphics style that became a big hit in the market. Buyers and consumers started asking for more Panshel items.

Panshel's World is under production by WAMC of Los Angeles and the television series is scheduled to air worldwide in 2004.

Shodensha, a Japanese publisher, realeased a Panshel storybook in Fall of 2002. The storybook outlines the creation of Panshel and Pandevi.

Main Characters:

Panshel

Panda with angel wings. Gentle and warm hearted. He can not fly, but walks in the sky with his wings.

Skywalking is his favorite pastime.

Panshela

Panshel's girlfriend. Firm character and cheerful.

Pandevi

Panda with devil wings. Panshel's childhood friend. Sly and mischievous, yet very shy and generally good fellow. He takes good care of his young brother. He can fly in the sky at great speed.

Pandee

Pandevi's girlfriend. Strong natured and a bit of a tomboy.

Panshelon

Panshela's brother. Leader of the babies.

And many more endearing heroes, villains, and babies.
